ZBT IOTA CHAPTER... #1 at DU!

IOTA ADVISORS' UPDATE

Fall quarter has been a successful one at IOTA. The chapter initiated 33 new brothers immediately after recruitment in accordance with ZBT's Journey Program. We now have a brotherhood of 112 men, the largest at DU. The chapter continues to properly execute The Journey Program, ZBT's innovative membership development program where we do not have pledging and have no hazing. Recruits are immediately initiated into the chapter. They have equal rights and responsibilities. Membership development programming through educational sessions, chapter speakers, and other programming continues throughout all four years of a brother's undergraduate journey. An important element of The Journey Program is that the chapter has Standards that every brother must attain every academic period. ALL brothers stand for a vote at the end of each academic period to see if they will be retained as a brother. We call this the Semi-Annual Brotherhood Review Vote aka SBRV - DU being on quarters this vote takes place three times a year.

Given the tragedies around the country, we are proud of our brothers at IOTA who have taken to heart The Journey Program. Want to learn more about this program? Please go to:

<http://www.zbt.org/the-journey.html>

We are pleased to welcome our Faculty Advisor Greg Grauberger as a brother. He was initiated this fall. He is a valuable resource to our chapter and brothers.

The chapter continues to excel in all programming areas. One area we could use your assistance is with raising funds for the Children's Miracle Network. See information on this in this newsletter. Please consider donating to help the kids.

A special thanks to my fellow alumni that serve as advisors and directors of our house corporation. Their assistance and mentoring are critical to the success of the chapter. We also thank Adam Seagall and his fellow officers and chairmen for their efforts throughout this quarter as they continue to build a better brotherhood at IOTA. We also thank both the National Staff and the staff at DU for their support.

As always a shout out to Don Reisfeld, our An Iota's Worth publisher/editor.

It is great to be a Zeeb at DU!

Letter from ZBT's Executive Director

Dear Brothers:

As I type this, I am reflecting on the current climate in communities and college campuses when it comes to a violent hate culture. I can't help but feel grateful knowing that ZBT isn't sitting idle watching these horrific protests turning into physical violence. Rather, we are rallying together and hosting programs that bring together students and community members to talk about the path forward ... a path free of hate.

ZBT has made it a top priority to do our part to educate our brothers on how to confront anti-Semitism, sexual violence, unhealthy behaviors and the many other issues plaguing our campuses today. It's not easy being 19 years old, let alone 38 as I am, and seeing some of what's going on in our country. Now, more than ever before, we need our brothers to come together and display the characteristics we committed to at the night of our initiation that all men are brothers and that we will confront our brothers when they are in error. Confrontation doesn't have to be violent or nasty. In fact, confronting each other is how we learn and grow as individuals.

Fraternity is a learning laboratory for life, and sometimes life is just hard. As the Executive Director of ZBT, it's my hope that the skills our brothers are learning, both as undergraduates and alumni, are skills they can take with them and find value in wherever they go. That's why we've committed as part of the current strategic plan that all of our leadership programs are paired with learning outcomes that are transferrable in the workplace, at home, with friends and loved ones and in the communities in which we seek to serve.

This is also why we have invested as much time and energy as we have in forming valuable partnerships. Any organization that thinks it can solve any of the issues impacting our campuses, communities and brothers alone is living a life of arrogance. ZBT believes that to go far we must go together. We've been fortunate to find incredible partnerships with the Anti-Defamation League, Jewish Women International, the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation, Chabad on Campus, Hillel, Gift of Life, Children's Miracle Network Hospitals and so many more. They add value to the ZBT experience and we're fortunate to have them as our programming partners. Of all that ZBT stands for, one area jumps out to me given the recent tragedies we have seen on college campuses. ZBT was, and is, proud to have become the first Fraternity to abolish pledging in 1989. We did this because we firmly believe that pledging creates a two-tier membership status that leads to hazing. In ZBT's world, if you're good enough to receive a bid then you should be good enough to be called a brother with all the same rights, privileges, and responsibilities. As we enter the upcoming year we intend on doubling down on this through a revamp of the Journey that offers chapters even more resources to ensure we are providing an experience for a lifetime, and not just the first semester.

The fall, 2017 semester has been another busy one. We've seen chapters make sustainable impacts within our communities through projects benefitting our adopted organizations. We've seen record-breaking recruitment numbers for chapters and, perhaps most importantly, we continue to see an uptick in the number of legacies joining ZBT further illustrating Brotherhood for a Lifetime. As we approach Thanksgiving, I want to say thanks to each of you for your continued support of ZBT in general, and Iota Chapter in particular. In just a little over a year we will celebrate 100 years of Iota...what an accomplishment. The Iota Chapter, since it's re-colonization has much to be proud of. Barely, if ever since that time, has a year gone by where Iota hasn't been recognized for excellence in alumni relations, recruitment, programming, Jewish heritage programming, to name a few. The chapter continues to produce quality brothers who go on to serve at the local and national level for ZBT. Iota men are men who live our Ritual, both in public and in private.

I've said it before and I'll say it every opportunity I get — the best chapters are those with the most engaged positive role models working with them. Just look at our most recent Brummer Cup winners and you'll see a cadre of alumni who help guide the way, inspire our brothers with their actions and, ultimately, get out of the way and let these young brothers learn and lead. In my opinion, this is the best way to give back to ensure a long future for our Fraternity. If you're interested in getting involved with a chapter or colony, please contact me at lbolotin@zbtnational.org.

Cordially, Fraternally & Sincerely,
Laurence A. Bolotin, M.Ed., CAE, Alpha Zeta (University of Florida) 2001

DU Launches Postdoctoral Fellowship in Holocaust Studies Initiative

Since its inception, the University of Denver's Holocaust Awareness Institute (HAI) has been honoring the history and lessons of the Shoah by promoting Holocaust awareness and education in Colorado and the Rocky Mountain region. DU is excited to announce a new initiative to support a Postdoctoral Fellow in Holocaust Studies. Paving a path towards an Endowed Chair of Holocaust Studies, this Fellow will hold a 3-year university appointment centered on teaching new Holocaust courses, developing new partnerships with local, national and global organizations, and working on a range of community and campus initiatives around Holocaust awareness and education.

A new Postdoctoral Fellow in Holocaust Studies is an especially fitting next step at DU given how many outstanding resources and programs we already have in place; in the context of the Center for Judaic Studies – University of Denver, the Fellow will have a number of unique opportunities, including:

- Teaching new interdisciplinary DU courses in Holocaust Studies
- Initiating new campus and community projects at the campus' Holocaust Memorial Social Action Site
- Creating innovative new educational tie-ins around existing HAI programs and resources, including our Holocaust Survivors Speakers Bureau
- Cultivating new campus, regional, and global partnerships around Holocaust education with teachers, organizations, and museums

Broad support for this project is vital. For more information on how you can partner with the Center for Judaic Studies and the University of Denver on this important initiative, please contact Tonya Kelly, AHSS Director of Development, email: tonya.kelly@du.edu, or 303.871.7839.

A Fraternity Life at Forty...

Posted by John Shertz

<http://fraternalthoughts.blogspot.com/2016/09/a-fraternity-life-at-forty.html>

A man at 40.

Check that – a fraternity man at 40. My brotherhood now is a cluster of three whimsical, invincible boys. And my wife is my lifelong sweet-heart.

A fraternity man at 40.

How did I get here so quickly? How did I reach this age that when I was in college, was the age of mentors and advisors and coaches and teachers? How can I possibly have reached a halfway point of the typical American male life?

And do I deserve to be here? And where did those gray hairs come from? No matter what, there is no escaping this point in my life. 40 years in. And hopefully at least those many yet to come. Of those 40 years, one-tenth of them were spent as an undergraduate member of Theta Chi fraternity at Miami University in Ohio.

For a lot – maybe most – of the men who join a fraternity, that one-tenth is what they will consider their fraternity years. Not for me.

My fraternity years started in January 1995, and are still going. I took to heart what my Ritual told me about lifelong commitments and obligations. In addition, I've come to understand that a fraternity life is actually better understood outside of the walls of the undergraduate house, or beyond the lush landscape of the college campus.

Fraternity is like most complex endeavors in life in that it takes on new and more profound meaning when it is studied and reflected upon. It was Socrates who said that the "unexamined life is not worth living." Well, the unexamined fraternity is a profound experience wasted. At 40, life has taught me a few things. For example, if you love someone, don't wait to tell them. Listening is the greatest gift you can give another person. Vulnerability is as important a leadership skill as public speaking. Brussels sprouts can actually be good when cooked with bacon. And the list goes on.

In regards to fraternity, I now look upon that experience much differently than when I was a young undergraduate. I've determined the 10 inalienable truths of the fraternity experience (at least until I'm 50). In no particular order...

1) Initiation into a fraternity is the starting gate, and not the finish line. When we see it as the opposite, then we limit the true lifelong nature of this experience. Don't tell me that when pledging was over I reached my destination. I'm still going.

2) The values in the fraternity Ritual can be life-directing. There is wisdom and guidance and roadmaps in those words but we too often treat them as only pretty ceremonies. Understand, adsorb, and live these teachings. I use them in my life today as a parent, husband, non-profit executive, volunteer.

3) The undergraduate fraternity experience is one of the last bastions of preparation for real life leadership. I'm recalling more of the things I learned in my undergrad fraternity years in my leadership experiences right now than anything else. Leadership in so many places on campus these days is over-coached and over-structured. For me, the experience of leading my brothers was messy, difficult, and emotionally exhausting. It was real.

4) The party/entertainment aspect of a fraternity matters and can be a fondly-remembered aspect.

However, it is but one branch of the fraternity tree, and not the root.

5) Hazing is absolutely unnecessary to experience fraternity. I experienced it, it did nothing for me as a fraternity member then or now, and it is actually a scar on the original vision of the fraternity movement.

6) Brotherhood is much greater than friendship and is built upon fidelity to shared values. On this blog, I have defined brotherhood as the bonding of men of various backgrounds, beliefs, places, and eras around a singular set of life-directing commitments. I have many friends in this world, but few true brothers.

7) In order for the undergraduate fraternity experience to be profound, it needs to be self-governed. And there may be no greater self-imposed threat to our future than our desires to manage and control this feature away. I wouldn't be the fraternity man I am today if my Greek advisor hadn't let me lead.

8) Relationships take work. Fraternity didn't just instantly make my chapter-mates and I lifelong friends. Fraternity created brotherhood, which created the opportunity for lifelong friendship to thrive. But the real honest work of relationship-building was needed and is today.

9) Fraternity is a truly powerful experience if we accept that it can be, and treat it that way.

10) I am a fraternity man because at age 40, I still believe in it, practice it, fight for it, and adhere to its teachings. And you can too, no matter how many gray hairs you have.

This is a fraternal life at forty, and the road ahead is looking pretty good. Another year older, and another year deeper into the richness of fraternity. I can't wait to learn more.

Bruce Saiber Memorial Iota Chapter Education Fund

The Zeta Beta Tau Foundation is a nonprofit corporation exclusively committed to educational and charitable purposes that assist the brothers of Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity. The Foundation assists the brothers of Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity by funding scholarships and academic and leadership programs to maximize their personal development and prepare them to be leaders of society. The scholarships and academic and leadership programs funded by the Foundation enhance the overall value of membership in Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity by complementing the collegiate educational experience.

We are pleased to announce the recent launch of the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation's new website! The new site can be found at www.zbtfoundation.org. Our goal with this new website is to provide our brothers and friends of ZBT an easier way to learn about the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation. The new website is mobile friendly and among the new features are videos, press releases and increased information about the Foundation's impact, the programs we support and the many opportunities available for supporting the mission of the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation.

Donation's to support Iota Chapter and our undergraduate brothers at the University of Denver can be made to the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation's Bruce Saiber Memorial Iota Chapter Education Fund. Bruce, an Iota, was a long time advisor for the chapter. He also served as a staff member for Phi Sigma Delta prior to the merger with Zeta Beta Tau. Grants from the Bruce Saiber Memorial Iota Chapter Education Fund help send current and future Iota Chapter undergraduate leaders too much needed educational leadership training programs. Annual IOTA football game: Alumni vs. Undergraduates

Undergraduates put up a great effort, but the alumni won in overtime! Nick Miscioscia, the all star QB now from the Grand Caymans, lead the way for the alumni with five TD passes. Steve Ehrlich threw for one. Merrick Hiton and Ben Brentin caught a few TDs along with others. Alex Frith and the undergraduates rallied from behind then took the lead for awhile in this hard fought contest.

For the KIDS – Give to Children's Miracle Network

My name is Alex Frith, and I am the current philanthropy chair with the Iota Chapter of Zeta Beta Tau at the University of Denver. I am starting my sophomore year majoring in mechanical engineering. This year, like many others before, we are asking you to help raise money for the Children's Miracle Network. This group is helping children all over the country and world receive the proper medical attention and care that they need. It is our mission, a part of the Get On The Ball philanthropy campaign, to help raise as much money #ForTheKids as possible.

Last year, we were able to raise over $19,000 for Children's Miracle Network, and we could not have done that without the support from our loyal friends, family, and most importantly, alumni! We are hoping that you can help us break our previous record by donating whatever you can, as well as spreading the word.

It is easy to donate, please go to: <http://www.zbtgetontheball.com>

then scroll down to the TOP 5 Teams in the lower right hand corner of the screen. There - click on ZBT-IOTA - Then click on GIVE NOW in the upper right hand area of the screen then the WHO WOULD YOU LIKE TO DONATE TO box will appear scroll down to ALUMNI click on DONATE and join us in helping the kids.

If you wish to donate by check please address it to: Zeta Beta Tau IOTA and send to Alex Frith at 1959 S. Columbine, Denver, CO 80210. The chapter will make sure these funds get donated to CMN along with the thousands of dollars we collect from students on campus when they Get On The Ball by signing our large ball.

When donating, please include your full name so that we can send you a personalized thank you note. We are hoping to have our best year of Get On The Ball yet and want YOU to be apart of it. If you have any questions or concerns please contact me at: alexander.frith@du.edu or 410-925-0319.

Presidents Message

Iota's foray into the 2017-18 academic year kicked off with a bang at ZBT's International Convention in Indiana this summer. While we fell just short of the Brummer Cup, we far and away dominated the rest of the weekend and took home more trophies than any other chapter. and received the Runner Up for the Brummer Cup Award. The chapter had won the Brummer Cup or the Runner Up for the Brummer Cup in eight of the last nine years. We intend to keep our collective feet on the gas and return next summer bigger and better than ever before.

We have successfully initiated 33 terrific new brothers this fall, and we could not be more excited to have them in our brotherhood. This diverse group of ambitious young men is sure to help us reach new heights academically, athletically, and socially.

The boys have also been firing on all cylinders for 'Get On The Ball', our annual fundraiser for the Children's Miracle Network. We are proud to say that the Iota chapter has currently raised the most in all of ZBT. In fact, we are beating the chapter in second place by a factor of 18x and have raised $7,580 versus their $414.45. The top five national individuals are all Iota's, and I suspect that most of the top 10 is as well. Please consider donating to Iota at zbtgetontheball.com, you'll see Iota at the top. For those who have already donated, your contributions are greatly appreciated.

Our outlook for the winter is positive as well. We hope to initiate a few more brothers and continue our tradition of campus leadership and excellence in all areas. We look forward to the return of our abroad brothers and know that the next executive board will continue to build on the great legacy established by many of you reading this right now. I would like to say that serving as President of Iota chapter has been one of the great honors of my life, and please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions, my e-mail is ams@segalls.com. And, as always, it's great to be a Zeeb.

Iota Chapter President

Programming

I am Brady Becco and I was the Vice President for ZBT this past quarter. As a whole, our quarter was fantastic for all brothers, both old and new. From a number of Alumni event such as poker night and the annual Alumni football game, to raising money for Children's Miracle Network with our Get on the Ball campaign. Iota is proud to have all five of the top five fundraisers for 'Get on the Ball' nationally. Not only this, but there were also a number of fun BDD events brothers were able to attend this quarter such as trap shooting, a lunch at sushi train, or a night of games and entertainment at Dave and Busters. I am proud to say that I was able to serve as Vice President of such a prestigious and close brotherhood as our own Iota chapter. The future is bright for Iota chapter with our new freshman brothers and I am sure that the Iota chapter will continue to remain the powerhouse of excellence that it has become

Treasurer

As Treasurer of the Iota chapter I am responsible for the upkeep of our finances. This position comes with a vast amount of responsibilities and learning experiences. Some of my responsibilities include keeping a balanced budget, filing our taxes, collection of our chapter dues, conversing with our advisers, chapter, and executive board on where we stand financially, and keeping chairs accountable for their budget. Although holding our brothers accountable as individuals and as chairs can be difficult at times, I have been able to build relationships with every brother in regard to the personal matters of finance and the financial vision of the chapter. I have been able to improve my skills around budgeting, accountability, decision-making, and working with the chapter and executive board around our goals and values. This position has been nothing but amazing for me and I'm excited to hand this position off to a brother that is dedicated and deserving next quarter so that he can help us further execute our goals and values

Philanthropy

DO CHARITY. Always!

We the brothers of the Zeta Beta Tau Iota chapter, have always been dedicated to serving others as well as learning how to better ourselves from this service. Every year we do a fundraiser called 'Get on the Ball' to help the Children's Miracle Network. What we do for this fundraiser is we get a giant ball and roll it around campus asking students and faculty for donations to sign the ball. This year was one of the best years Iota has ever had for get on the ball. Our goal is $20,000 and less than 10 weeks in we are already closing in on $10,000. This goal could never have been surpassed without the love and support from our alumni and friends and family of current brothers. Thank you for all your support, it's great to be a Zeeb!

C, F & S,
Alexander Frith
Philanthropy Chairmen

Provost

Hello, my name is Charles Canty and I am the provost of ZBT IOTA. This position puts me in charge of New Brother Education as well as educating the whole chapter by hosting speakers at our chapter meetings. In New Brother Education, each new member is responsible for writing a short paper about each tenant of our credo (truth, justice, service, charity, wisdom, and brotherly love) and how that tenant pertains to their own lives. We also had a meeting once a week where leaders in our fraternity as well as alumni and a couple outside sources taught lessons on different sections of the curriculum. Some of these lessons include the importance of recruitment, staying away from alcohol and drug abuse, tips on effective studying and getting good grades, and how to make the most of your four years in college. Speakers at chapter meetings in the fall quarter included the philosophy department on inclusion of all faiths on campus, our academic advisor Greg Grauberger on academics, career services on resume building and finding internships, and a Denver police officer on the different laws in Colorado and how to avoid getting in trouble. All new members did a great job in New Brother Education and every brother got a lot out of the speakers we brought in this quarter. We're all looking forward to the year ahead of us

C, F & S,

Academics

As Academics chair I try to reinforce a saying that I feel is slowly becoming lost in fraternities across the country; the fact that we are students first. Iota stands out as a powerhouse of excellence for the type of men they have in their chapter, and the type of men that come out of it. A key aspect in seeing brothers succeed going forward revolves around the idea that they have succeeded in school. While hours of philanthropic work, group organization through recruitment or BDD, and a general sense of brotherhood look great on an application they do not work if brothers are not seen as strong students. My job is not only to enforce academic standards, but to create an environment that focuses on the importance of academics, and fosters a positive learning community within the chapter. I am happy to say that as we move forward as a chapter, we continue to see growth academically, both from the new brothers and the current members as well. We continue to see the chapter GPA rise, and see younger classes continue to set the bar high. We are, and always will be students first; it is something we should always take pride in, and something we currently do. As we continue to grow I only see the bond of brotherhood and academics becoming stronger.

C, F & S,
Jackson Spear
Academics Chairmen

B+ Positive

In our third year with a B+, our IOTA chapter has made enormous strides to continue fostering a sense of brotherhood with our B+ Hero, Melvin. Through B+, brothers have been able to get ice cream with Melvin, as well as watch our 2017 Hockey National Champions in action with Melvin and his family. Some of my best memories from this past year have been at the house playing basketball with Melvin, and having brothers jump into a game of horse. I am also in the process creating a 529-college fund for Melvin, in which the donations from the change for good bin will serve as seed money. With the great bounds forward this past year, and the continued support from all the brothers in the chapter, the future for B+ is brighter than ever.

Secretary

My time as secretary has helped me develop certain skills that I will use for the rest of my life. Some of my day-to-day duties include taking attendance at chapter, sending out updates to the fraternity, and updating the rosters. It has helped greatly with my leadership skills and my organizational skills. I have enjoyed every second on the job and would not trade it for another position!

Heritage

The Heritage Committee is starting off really strong this quarter at the Iota Chapter! We started the quarter off by having brothers attending high holiday dinners at Hillel. As well as having Professor Pessin from the Philosophy department come speak on the DU Interfaith Challenge. We are very excited to start implementing more community service and philanthropy within the Heritage Committee in the coming future.

Risk Management

My name is Brandon Ferder and I am currently the Risk Management Chairmen of the Zeta Beta Tau, Iota Chapter at the University of Denver. Over the past year, I have supervised the fraternity's mental, and physical well-being. In conjunction with our Executive board, others and myself are able to keep all brothers, or any other person who is associated with our chapter, safe. I take pride in being able to help everyone with his or her health and wellness, as well as overlook any brother that may be in trouble or needs help. Iota has always been a powerhouse of excellence, and Risk Management as well as many other committees is the leading backbone of the fraternity. I look forward to continuing my term until the end of winter quarter where I will pass on this very important role to one lucky new brother who can take on the task. I appreciate all moral and physical support that I have had throughout my experience as chairmen. Its great to be a Zeeb!

Recruitment

Now that Fall recruitment is over we would like to introduce our newest class of 32 new ones! We're excited to welcome all of you as brothers and can't wait to see what the next four years hold for your class. Congratulations, and help us redeem our title by winning the Brummer cup this year!

Personal note on Recruitment:

I had the amazing opportunity of being Recruitment Chairman over the past year. Our President, Vice-Presidents, Recruitment Committee, and I have been working very hard ever since last spring planning for this fall's rush. This autumn we hosted a plethora of events including grilling out at the house and playing basketball, watching football at the house with catering courtesy of Chipotle, a Hawaiian Luau, outdoor paintball, bowling, and more! All of these events were put on with an amazing team effort by our Recruitment committee and the rest of the brothers in Iota. There were a ton of working parts and support ranging from our Advisers, Alumni, Executive Board, Public Relations Committee, Rituals Committee, Brotherhood Development Committee, Community Service Committee, and more! Due to the commitment of this amazing team, this Fall Rush we had the most successful recruitment in Iota's history. We initiated 35 new members, 34 freshmen, and one sophomore. Excited by the quantity of men we received we are even more excited with the quality of men we received through utilizing our Values Based Recruitment strategy. I am proud of these new brothers, the recruitment committee, Iota Chapter, and especially Zeta Beta Tau. Our focus now turns to Winter Rush, in which we will be looking for more quality men who may have slipped through the cracks during fall. Recruitment is the lifeblood of fraternity, and it never stops – so neither can we! Please send recruitment recommendations to: grant.brady@du.edu.

Like always, it's great to be a Zeeb!

Traditions

This past quarter we had once again a great Fall retreat up in Winter Park! The Iota chapter took our newly initiated brothers up to two cabins in Winter Park for a night for a night of bonding and stories. Every brother came out closer than ever before from this great tradition we have and was one of the highlights of the entire quarter! We as brothers ate lasagna, salad, and bonded all night in the mountains and becoming a closer chapter than before. In the winter, we will do a similar retreat, however, this time, our brothers who are currently abroad will be able to join in on the fun and get to know our new freshman brothers better than ever before!

Social

This Fall quarter, the Iota Chapter had some wonderful social events. The boys had a study break during midterms with the Alpha Phi chapter called "Welcome to the Neighborhood." The two organizations played lawn games and shared a smorgasbord of Chic-Fil-A. A few weeks later the ZBT's went down to The Island to play beach volleyball with the Delta Zeta Chapter. With a theme like Top Gun, the boys were bound to have an unreal day. Overall it has been a blast of a quarter sharing fun experiences with sororities around campus.

Athletics

Athletics are not something that we take lightly in Iota Chapter. As the athletics chair, it is my responsibility to make sure that we are quite literally on top of our game. This past quarter, we have had some great athletic performances from our many intramural football, soccer, basketball and broom-ball victories, to the great competition shown in our annual alumni football game. Athletics are just one of the many areas that the brothers of the Iota Chapter are dominant on both the University of Denver level and the national level.

Faculty Advisor

I was just initiated as an honorary ZBT brother and I'm currently the faculty advisor for ZBT. I also work as an advisor at the Daniels College of Business and work closely with Daniels students and their families. My opportunity to serve for ZBT gives me the chance to branch out and enjoy the privilege of working with a group of brothers who are very visible and distinguished on campus. In the time I've been associated with ZBT, I have witnessed the energy and effort that the house places against all campus activities, creating well-rounded brothers who are creating meaningful, lifelong networks. As a priority, I want the current brothers to think back to the time that they joined ZBT, the commitment to stand shoulder to shoulder with their brothers, to respect and be there for them. Now, step back to re-examine that original commitment they made to themselves and to the others who are their ZBT family. Given that perspective, how can they personally extend and increase that commitment inside, and outside the ZBT community? What are some strategies and tactics to accomplish this academically, culturally, and socially? These will be some areas we explore in the future, and as parents and alums, your feedback is welcome.

Parent/Alumni Relations

The role of the Parent Alumni chairs is to keep alumnus involved with the chapter, in addition to keeping parents up to date with our events. As a fraternity, it is crucial to form and maintain strong relationships not only within the chapter, but with the families of our brothers. One of my jobs is to organize the Parent Dessert Reception that occurs on Parent's weekend. This event gives parents an opportunity to see the community that their son is a part of. Furthermore, I plan many events for the alumnus of our chapter to attend. This gives the current brothers an opportunity to meet and learn from past brothers. For my role within the ZBT IOTA chapter, Communication is an essential part of my duty that helps build relationships that extend beyond our chapter.

Brotherhood Development

Hello, my name is Will Moody, I am heading up Iota's Brotherhood Development program for the remainder of the year

The BDD program has taken off over the last two years and I am very excited to have been given the opportunity to continue the great success we have been experiencing.

Over the last two quarters we have been trying to revamp the program to keep the brothers engaged as well as to strengthen our already deep bond. We started off the fall quarter with a bang by having an all you can eat sushi challenge, and the next week we took over Dave and Busters for a night of fun and games. The brothers of Iota also hit the shooting range for an opportunity to practice gun safety and put some white-hot lead down range, and as always it was a crowd favorite. Looking forward we are very excited to implement some new programming called Wings and Wisdom. We are going to be bringing in a guest speaker to talk about their area of expertise, whether that is business ethics, or legal sports betting. Of course, there will be an abundance of wings as well. The weather is turning colder and for the brothers of Iota there is a lot more fun to be had!

Public Relations

The ZBT Public Relations chair is responsible for photographing as many important ZBT events as possible, and keeping the Facebook and Instagram pages updated with new photos. Another important responsibility is making sure that our chapter's website is always up to date, and coordinating with our website designer to make updates as needed. This fall I have also had the responsibility of reaching out to different composite companies to receive estimates that I will give to our electoral board along with my recommendation of which company to choose. Generally, I am in charge of shaping our chapter's public image via social media postings, and this year my goal is to post more photos of graduating seniors and to add more content to our Instagram page.

House Manager

I am the 2017/18 house manager. My job entails managing the fraternity house, ensuring that it remains up to date with all safety requirements, and processing work orders for all brothers in the house. On top of that, I delegate house jobs (essentially chores) to every brother living in the house in order to keep all areas of the house clean. My job requires that I communicate with all in house brothers and advisors to ensure that ZBT is a clean, functional, and welcoming environment for brothers to spend time in.

C, F & S,
Brian Richardson
House Manager Chairmen

Community Service

During this fall quarter, there were a number of diverse community service events that allowed brothers to earn hours on their own time. At ZBT, we try to account community service hours that can ultimately lead to benefit the bigger picture by helping out the less fortunate in the Denver area. From traveling to the Food Bank of the Rockies to package food to cleaning up parks for Denver Parks and Recreation, there are many different ways of earning hours by simply attending events. While these hours are required by the fraternity, brothers learn that what goes around comes around and to help out in every area that we can.

I am currently working as an Assistant Project Manager for Carmel Partners, a real estate development firm. and working on two multifamily projects in Denver (Mississippi & I-25 and Colfax & Osage). I just moved into this position and am working to catch up on the learning curve. Both projects are in very different stages, and learning a lot of commercial construction and development execution.

It's been great living in Denver and getting to see the guys from my class regularly along with other alumni.
