IOTA ADVISORS' UPDATE

It has been an interesting and challenging fall quarter. The men of IOTA have risen to the challenge. We have initiated 16 new brothers in a mostly virtual and man-on-man recruitment process.

The chapter is hoping to initiate more brothers later this quarter and then have recruitment in both winter and spring quarters with a goal of having at least 30 new brothers join our ranks this school year. Unfortunately, we did not have brothers return to DU this quarter and had some brothers leave us for financial and other reasons. We now have over 80 men in the chapter with hopes of being near 100 by the end of spring quarter. Due to COVID-19 we had to make all rooms in the chapter house singles this school year and only allow those living in the chapter house to eat meals in the house. We have instituted enhance cleaning and safety protocols. We did have some brothers living in the chapter house come down with COVID-19. They were temporarily moved into quarantine and the other non-infected brothers moved into isolation. Thankfully no one was seriously ill. The University has been providing the students with regular access to testing. We still are having some brothers infected. DU recently went to all virtual classes and the student body will be leaving campus November 20th with all finals online.

Programming has been impacted. Presently we can only have groups of five men and under at any event, earlier in the quarter we could have ten. As you might imagine this has presented challenges, but the leadership has done a great job of keeping the men engaged. We are hopeful in the months to come social conditions will improve so we may resume more traditional programming, but uncertainty remains. Hopefully, between a vaccine and therapeutics school life will return to 'normal' sometime in 2021.

The Reunion Planning Committee will be meeting virtually in early January to further discuss plans for our now 101st Chartering Anniversary Celebration for Sept. 23-26, 2021. Stay tuned and see pg. 13 for details. We want to thank Alec Hurst and his fellow officers and chairmen for their efforts during fall quarter.

I want to thank my fellow advisors and house corporation directors especially Gary Berz for their assistance and support. Also, a shout out to DU for their support. As always we thank Don Reisfeld for his containing efforts to make IOTAs publications the fraternity's best. To brother Jackson Spear, who is our House Director this year, huge thanks for dealing with this year's challenges.

Thankfully due to our size and the strength of our chapter, we shall survive and look forward to better days ahead. Be well and stay safe.

Message from International President ZBT Fraternity

Dear Brothers,

I hope that you and yours remain safe and well during these difficult times.

For our Fraternity, the challenges of the pandemic are equaled by its opportunities. If wisdom is alone gained through struggle, we are becoming wiser by the day, as the International Fraternity and our Chapters learn to effectively recruit, educate, program for, bond with, appreciate, and recognize Brothers in new ways. As we have been driven physically apart, we have adapted to strengthen the bonds of Brotherhood.

At the outset of the pandemic, the Headquarters Staff and volunteer leadership acted quickly to reduce expenses and enact policies to protect the health and safety of our Brothers, while continuing to provide programming and services. Our Chapters and Brothers similarly adapted, many excelling at virtual recruitment and programming, permitting us to exceed our pandemic projections for returning brothers and putting us on track to exceed our pandemic projections for recruitment as well. As always, Iota is among those Chapters leading the way.

We are refocusing on our unique origin story and special purpose. Zeta Beta Tau grew in response to the exclusionary policies of organizations at the time, which would not admit members of the Jewish faith. Our Brotherhood thrived as it created a space for those men and, eventually, all men of good character. As such, our Brotherhood is not an heir to injustice, but a response to it. We must remind others of this whenever and wherever possible, by our words and deeds.

That message, and our programming to combat hate, provide opportunities for Brothers from marginalized communities to discuss common experiences, and our efforts to end sexual violence on campus, is rooted in decades-old organizational values. Now more than ever, those values are sought by college campuses and undergraduates. Thus, while the current environment may be unfavorable to the average fraternity, it provides a Brotherhood like ours an amazing opportunity.

The commitment to our values, as they manifest in our programming, conduct, and messaging, have led to expansion successes during the pandemic. We initiated 27 new Brothers at Emory and 15 at the University of California at Berkeley. We have been approved to return to the University of Kentucky next year.

Serious challenges remain, both pandemic-related and otherwise. We will meet those challenges like we have met many before, united in adherence to our watchwords of Justice and Brotherly Love.

Richard 'Dick' S. Simon | 1921-2020

Passes to the Chapter Eternal

Shy just six months of his 100 birthday, Richard (Dick) S. Simon, Phi (University of Michigan) 1943, has left us for the Chapter Eternal and the embrace of his beloved Nancy.

His moving on leaves us for a space of time in the sad, dark emptiness occasioned by the passing of a friend. Whatever other connections we might have enjoyed with Dick, it's the loss of that rarest of gifts, his friendship, that leaves us most desolate now. But when the mourning's done and our grief turns to fond memories, his good counsel and gratitude for his life, we'll tell his story whenever he comes to mind. Each time we do we'll place another stone upon his marker.

Everyone knew Dick Simon was good company. He would enter a room with a story to tell, a hearty laughter at one of yours and if circumstance called, a listening ear and an empathetic heart. He held the secret of mutual trust, which endeared him to many: give much, ask for little, forget the bad, remember the good and when needed, be there, no excuses. To be in his circle was comforting, ennobling and fun.

He was a 'happy warrior' for whatever his cause or relationship. Even in tough times with hard choices to be made, Dick had the skill of making one and all feel as though they were in it together; a band of brothers once more into the breach and as much as a celebration of kinship as a struggle to turn the tide.

A marvelous head for many things yet never disconnected from his sensitivity. His feel for the heavy burdened rested near the surface of his being. Eager to forgive and forget, first in line to welcome home, he was the kind of person you hated to disappoint, but somehow knew he would be there for you anyway.

A wise and giving man, as much by his actions as his words. Even so Dick was not always an even-tempered person; events and people could trigger his ire. Yet all knew his momentary flair was a sign of his passion for the thing at hand: his affection for friend and family and the institutions that defined his life. Despite his sometimes-hot reactions, he was always a hail-fellow well met and all around him were eager to toast his health.

A lifetime of service to his Pittsburgh, his Temple and particularly the local health community earned him the respect of friend and stranger, those he agreed with and some he did not. His wartime service in the South Pacific brought him the regard of his comrades and the thanks of his countrymen.

More important than his titles and honors, however, was his steadfast commitment to our brotherhood in its darkest days. Future ZBTs yet unborn will walk in the light of our common bond because Dick stood on the wall when times were dangerous, many of our own left the field and much of our surrounding world wished us ill.

His life was full of meaning, honor and truth. Nature and learning and the instinct for servant leadership gave him the sure knowledge that the Brotherhood of all people was as simple as having each other's back.

For a hundred years he lived and shared his example, his helping hand, his laughter, his wisdom. How lucky are we to have had him with us all this time? How vital it is that we don't disappoint him?

Zeta Beta Tau was chief among his loves:

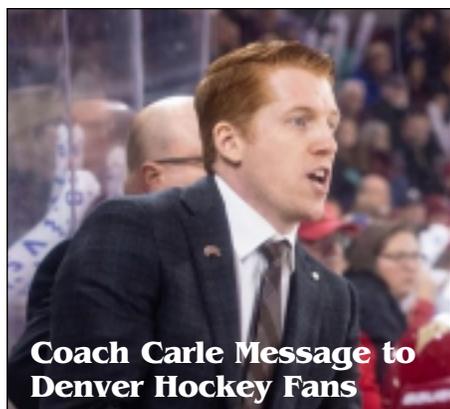

- International President
- President of the Zeta Beta Tau Foundation
- Most frequent winner of ZBT's Sommer Award
- President of the North American Interfraternity Conference (NIC)
- Recipient of the NIC's Gold Medal
- Advisor for several chapters in the Pittsburgh area
- Father of another International President
- Grandfather of two ZBTs

Denver Pios Ranks 4th in USA Today/USA Hockey Magazine Preseason Poll

DENVER – After ranking fifth in the USCHO preseason poll last week, the Denver Pioneers hockey team ranked 4th in the USA Today/USA Hockey Magazine preseason poll as released on Monday.

Coach Carle Message to Denver Hockey Fans

Denver earned 370 points and one first-place vote in the USA Today/USA Hockey Magazine poll conducted in conjunction with the American Hockey Coaches Association (AHCA) with input from coaches and members of the media from each of the six Division I college hockey conferences as well as officers of the AHCA and USA Hockey. North Dakota took 1st place with 494 points and 22 first-place votes, while Boston College ranked 2nd with 418 points and three first-place votes and Minnesota Duluth ranked 3rd with 385 points and three first-place votes. DU Soars in College Rankings

With the September release of U.S. News & World Report's annual college rankings, the University of Denver posted double-digit gains over last year's performance, leaping from No. 97 to No. 80 on the list of the nation's top 400 national universities. DU is the highest rated institution in Colorado.

The jump is largely attributable to improvements in several of the six categories U.S. News uses to determine rankings: outcomes, faculty resources, expert opinion, financial resources, student excellence and alumni giving. For example, in the faculty resources category—which considers everything from class size to faculty salaries—DU rose to 32 from 77. Meanwhile, the category reflecting expert opinion showed improvement thanks to a peer-assessment score that rose from 3.0 to 3.1.

"It is rewarding to see our peers recognize the amazing work being accomplished by our students, faculty and staff," says Chancellor Jeremy Haefner. "So much of everything we do is focused on furthering our faculty's research and achieving the best possible outcome for our students."

Motorcycling at Denver University in 1950s

I share some of my early years as a motorcyclist at Denver U. in the late 1950s. Since childhood in Queens, New York, I had a obsession with everything on two wheels. One of the first things I did upon arrival at DU in 1958, was to buy a motorcycle. It was a 1946 Harley Davidson side valve 74 cubic inch, over-weight, sluggish beast. I recall being embarrassed by the various motor bikes on campus, Yamaha and Honda 150-250cc. They totally outran my cast iron, side shifting 1946 H-D. I bought it for about $100, price of an older used car in them days. It was plain, ugly black. So, I pulled it apart, in the parking lot behind the "new" house at 1959 S. Columbine. I painted it dark red, put on a few pieces of chrome, and to be "cool" didn't put the front fender back on. Of course, when the winter rains came, the fender went back on to never be removed. I learned what fenders do.

I sold that cast iron beast to another student on the campus. I replaced it with a 1954 H-D, yellow, much zippier. Nevertheless, the side mirrors were still useless, and it also dripped oil. We called it the Milwaukee Vibrator. Not much later I learned about BMW from some other riders in town.

My introduction to the Beemer was interesting. I was the passenger on a BMW R-27, a 250cc single for an event called, I believe, a "gymkhana." You had instructions with a list of places to be ridden to while being within certain time. Points off for arriving too soon or too late. That motorbike was smooth, no vibrations, quiet, nice. That convinced me to get my first BMW, a 1956, R-50, a 490cc opposed twin. I rode that thing to N.Y. (Yes, that is correct. I was "excused" for a couple years from the university for certain immature activities.) The picture you saw of me on that BMW was taken on the front lawn of my home in Queens, N.Y. That was in 1964, the year of the New York World's Fair. Wish I still had that bike, too.

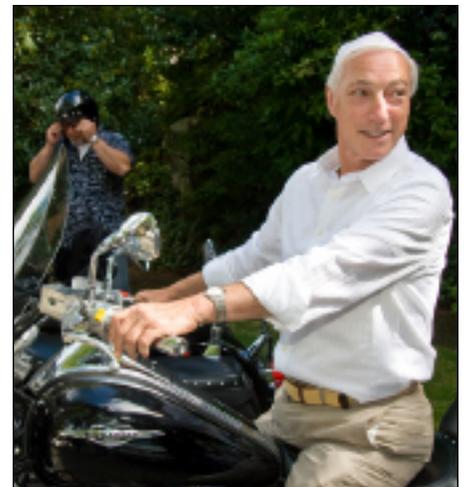

1/12/18, Tribe Kibitz Room wrote:

Great pics! But I am curious - please define "certain immature activities".... and don't worry it will be our secret. Doug

Hmm. OK, Douglas. Our secret. Aside from significantly less than stellar grades in certain classes, there was, indeed, a capstone event. Denver U. and Colorado College, (Colorado Springs) were scheduled for the annual hockey face-off rivalry on the DU campus. Their mascot, a goat, was contained in a small makeshift corral on the lawn in front of the campus chapel, the evening before the big game. I was recruited into a kidnapping of the goat. That night, I was the lookout. Two other guys led the goat into the chapel, up the narrow stairs into the open bell tower. The beast was bleating all the way up and continued through-out the night. Dean Daniel Fetter, an imposing, gentle, Jewish, dean of students, recommended that I leave the university for a year or two to mature. Within days, I packed my bags, shipped them back to NYC, and mounted my trusty BMW for the pre-freeway, pre-credit cards, paper map ride back east. Upon arriving home in Queens, a draft notice was waiting. And that, Dougie Davis, is our secret and the beginning of another story.

Here's Ned Porges 60 years later at home in Seattle, still imbued with all two-wheeled motor vehicles.

The ZBT IOTA website is the product of a lot of hard work from very dedicated individuals. Through the help of a website developer, we were able to create something that we truly felt captured our chapter and who we are. Our new website features a variety of comprehensive tabs, each revealing something different regarding our brotherhood, along with a blog to keep followers in the loop with all things Iota. I encourage you to check it out for updates, current news and photos.

President

I would like to thank all our brothers for their efforts over this past fall quarter. With the cards we have been dealt, we have been able to bring in a great class of freshmen, safely explore new parts of Colorado, become frequent flyers at golf courses, and enjoy events safely in the fresh air. I have been proud to see our brotherhood come together and truly uphold being our brother's keepers, keeping everyone safe and healthy, while making the most of our time at the University of Denver. It has been a privilege to see our brothers living in the house making the most of their year, enjoying house leagues and tournaments. These brothers have stepped up above and beyond, helping with our fall rush, our brotherhood events, online community service, and assimilating our freshman class into this IOTA chapter. We have great things to look forward to. We will be ramping up community service and raising money for Children's Miracle Network, hosting winter recruitment, hosting events for brothers around some of our big cities over the break, and, my favorite, enjoying the mountain and slopes this winter. We hope you and your families are doing well, staying healthy, and enjoying the transition to winter. It is great to be a ZBT at DU!

C, F & S,
Alec Hurst, Iota Chapter President
University of Denver '21

Programming Director

My name is Andrew Swift. I am a senior from Massachusetts and the external Vice President of ZBT IOTA chapter at DU. My responsibilities include overseeing half of the chairs and committees of our chapter and making sure events and activities get planned and completed on time. I took this job because I believe ZBT fraternity helped shape my college career and I would like to do my best to help brothers and the chapter to succeed and excel.

C, F & S,

Programming Director

Faculty Advisor

I am Greg Grauberger, the faculty advisor for ZBT, I work as an advisor at the Daniels College of Business and work closely with Daniels students and their families. My opportunity to serve for ZBT gives me the chance to branch out and enjoy the privilege of working with a group of brothers who are very visible and distinguished on campus. In the time I have been associated with ZBT, I have witnessed the energy and effort that the house places against all campus activities, creating well-rounded brothers who are creating meaningful, lifelong networks. As a priority, I want the current brothers to think back to the time that they joined ZBT, the commitment to stand shoulder to shoulder with their brothers, to respect and be there for them. Now, step back to re-examine that original commitment they made to themselves and to the others who are their ZBT family. Given that perspective, how can they personally extend and increase that commitment inside, and outside the ZBT community? What are some strategies and tactics to accomplish this academically, culturally, and socially? These will be some areas we explore in the future, and as parents and alums, your feedback is welcome.

I am very honored and flattered by the recognition, and to have been able to receive the Excellence, Chapter Faculty Adviser award in person. In my position in Daniels, I work with a lot of students, and a lot of Greek students, and each day I feel most fortunate to be connected specifically as a ZBT Brother with everyone individually, and as a group. It's a tremendous house, but one that has not even reached its potential academically, which is both a challenging and exciting proposition. While last night provides a snapshot for earned celebration, it also gives us the impetus to direct our momentum to the future and to visualize the accomplishments ahead of us.

Thanks again, and please give all the Brothers my sincere thanks at the upcoming chapter meeting.

Operations Director

My name is Arthur Ashworth, I am a junior at the University of Denver. I hold the position of Operations Director at Zeta Beta Tau in which I oversee all operations of the chapter, help plan events, assist and advise our chairmen. This year has been a rollercoaster and we have been adhering to guidelines and prioritizing safety of our brothers and community.

C, F & S,
Arthur Ashworth
Operations Director

Brotherhood Overwatch

My name is Brendan McNair, and I am the chairmen for Brotherhood Overwatch. This committee is dedicated to informing brothers about issues of mental health. It is reported that roughly 35% of college students are dealing with mental health issues. This percentage has been rising over the years, and many people do not understand how common, yet serious mental health can be. Because of this, brotherhood overwatch's goal is to provide brothers with resources about mental health as well as resources to help with mental health. It is our hope that these provided resources will encourage brothers to understand that they do not have to fight mental health by themselves as there are many resources available to aid in this struggle. Along with this, we are committed in establishing a community where we are our brother's keepers, and no brother is alone. As the brotherhood overwatch chairmen, I have been able to see growth throughout my brothers, and I am excited to see even more growth over the years to come.

C, F & S,
Brendan McNair
Brotherhood Overwatch Chairmen

House Manager

My name is Jackson Spear and I am IOTA's house manager for ZBT. I am a graduate student studying global finance and trade at the Korb School of International Studies. I plan to keep the house in good shape and ensure we can have a safe and fun year.

C, F & S,
Jackson Spear
House Manager

Finance Director

My name is Enzo Sorano and I am the financial director of ZBT IOTA. This quarter has been a lot of orderly chaos. With many brothers scattered around the United States, and the world, we have been working hard to find ways for everyone to get value for their dues. We reduced dues for the entire chapter, because in times like these we do not want brothers to stress about finances on top of everything else. With that being said, we were still able to budget for some fun brotherhood events and put some money away for formal in the spring. We are keeping our fingers crossed!

C, F & S,
Enzo Sorano
Finance Director

Communications Director

Hi, my name is Ben Shackelford and I am a third year student from Kansas City. Currently, I am the communications director for IOTA Chapter. I am in charge of communicating with brothers within the fraternity, as well as other people outside the fraternity. As of this quarter, I have updated our member and chairs rosters as we have gained and lost brothers. These are stressful times, and I hope everyone stays healthy and enjoys the rest of the academic year.

Communications Chairmen

Recruitment

Recruitment Never Ends! We are pleased to report that we initiated 16 new brothers this fall.

This was done without having a traditional recruitment period. We used man on man recruitment mostly done virtually to accomplish this result. This was challenging for us as well as the prospective new members. We have continued to recruit during the remainder of fall quarter and anticipate initiating more than a dozen men winter quarter plus more in spring quarter.

We thank all that sent us recruitment recommendations and continue to welcome them for this school year as well as for 21-22. Please send them to: radochonskijb@gmail.com

Academics

Given the uncertainty that the COVID-19 pandemic had on our educational experience, our brothers have remained focused on academic excellence. During our uncertain spring quarter, IOTA was able to achieve a chapter GPA of 3.69. This was above the all male's, all undergraduate, and IFC GPA averages. This is an outstanding accomplishment and something for all brothers to be proud of, particularly in these unfamiliar times. We have adapted our current academic programming per the university's new COVID-19 restrictions. This includes hosting virtual meetings with advisors and tutors. We hope that we can return to our traditional academic setting soon, but the brothers have shown tremendous strength and adaptability in these challenging times.

Alumni/Parental Relations

Hi, my name is Braden Krumholz and I am the Parent/Alumni chair for IOTA. I hope everyone is doing alright during these trying times. We had a few events planned such as the 100th year anniversary for IOTA, but it was unfortunately postponed to next year due to the COVID-19 pandemic. While on COVID-19, I wanted to apologize for the cancelled poker nights this year because of the pandemic. What is important right now though is to take care of ourselves and your loved ones. Hopefully the pandemic will be able to subsidize by next year so we can go back to living out our lives without any pandemic related hindrances. Well, I hope to be in contact with all of you soon and if you ever want updates on alumni events, please call or text me at 469-766-3635.

C, F & S,

Alumni/Parental Relations Chairmen

Community Service

This fall we dealt with unprecedented circumstances as we looked to assist a community ravaged by the COVID-19 pandemic, while maintaining the health and safety of ourselves, the faculty, and students of the University of Denver as a whole. Because of this, we were allowed very minimal in person events, and promoted virtual volunteering opportunities for all our brothers, as we looked at a community that needed our brotherly assistance more than ever. Our only in-person event this quarter consisted of a Card Drive, in which we made and collected cards for the Food Bank of the Rockies to be delivered in packages sent to those that are immunocompromised or handicapped to the point where grocery shopping is impossible—sending out a wide variety of positive messages and words of hope during these incredibly pressing times. Moving forward into winter quarter, we will continue to look for opportunities to contribute to the public good, while maintaining the safety of our brothers, and those around us, while hopefully finding more in-person opportunities that allow us to still be safe.

C, F & S,
Will Irvin
Community Service Chairmen

Philanthropy

Aloha, My name is Cyrus Jumalon and I am the current philanthropy chair for the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity, Iota chapter at the University of Denver. This quarter has been a tough quarter for us all and unfortunately I did not have the pleasure of spending it on campus. I decided to stay home for the fall quarter 2020 in order to save finances and be safe from the pandemic. With no contact and many regulations, setting up and doing philanthropy events were very difficult this quarter especially while being remote from campus. Despite the difficult situation we've managed to raise some money for the Black Lives Movement and are planning more fundraisers for the winter quarter. The philanthropy chair is responsible to set up and plan events to raise money and donate the earning to charity. Hopefully the pandemic will become safer for us all this coming winter quarter and we will be able to raise more funds for charity.

C, F & S,
Grant Stinson
Philanthropy Chairmen

Rituals

My name is Jack Diakon and I am the 2020-2021 ZBT Iota chapter's rituals chair. My job is to provide the authentic induction experience that every brother has at the beginning of their journey with the fraternity. This year, with obvious restrictions on meeting in groups, my rituals committee and I did multiple ceremonies with smaller groups of new brothers. This style, while a bit more informal, allowed each new brother to interpret the ceremony more personally which we thought was the most important aspect of the ritual in the long run. Restrictions also forced us to significantly cut down on the audience allowed to watch this ritual, but we tried to compensate for this by having all the newly inducted brothers get food with many more current brothers after the ritual. All in all, it was definitely an authentic experience unique to the new way of doing things nowadays but this also gave us many ideas on how to improve the ritual for our next incoming class which makes me confident in the future.

C, F & S,
Jack Diakon
Rituals Chairmen

Risk Management

This year's risk management program has had to pivot in this unprecedented time. While our normal programming is drastically different from last year, we are still working hard to ensure that ZBT-Iota can have as much fun as possible, as safely as possible .

C, F & S,
Austin Danelski and Aiden Vaughey
Risk Management Co-Chairmen

Health

This year has been busy as a health and wellness manager. COVID has been a challenge to manage within the house, and we have combated that with daily temperature checks and frequent testing. We're requiring brothers living in the house to wear masks and disinfect high touch areas. Though we have had positive cases across the fraternity, we are predominately staying happy and healthy.

C, F & S,
Austin Danelski
Health Chairmen

Traditions

Hi my name is Dominic. I am the Traditions chair. I organize the retreat for our brothers. We have many bonding events at retreat. We were unable to have one this quarter due to COVID. We hope to have one in the winter or spring. Hope everyone stays safe!

C, F & S,
Dominic Fera
Traditions Chairmen

Inter Fraternity Council

My name is Arthur Ashworth, I hold our IFC chair position. Through this position I strengthen our bond with the inter fraternal council, we discuss our events as to how we can host them safely following guidelines and keeping people safe. In this position we have been able to better our relationship with the school to allow for future brothers of ZBT to step up and be leaders in the community.

C, F & S,
Arthur Ashworth
IFC Chairmen

Public Relations

My name is Henry Hoffman, I am currently the Public Relations chair for the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity Iota chapter. My role as Public relations chair is to be in charge of our social media pages and our website.

C, F & S,
Henry Hoffman
Public Relations Chairmen

Sexual Assault Prevention

The Sexual Assault Prevention is run by Parker Fisher. The purpose of this committee is to educate, inspire, and mobilize members of the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity to be the best community members we can be to our fellow students and members of the University of Denver and surrounding communities. This year the Iota chapter is looking to host training seminars like Green Light Go, a national ZBT program raising awareness on college campuses about sexual assault and consent. We constantly encourage our brothers to be conscious and active bystanders on campus and in our daily lives. We also offer support to fellow brothers who have been impacted by sexual assault, either directly or indirectly. Our committee is looking forward to continuing our engagement with the DU community in the coming years.

C, F & S,
Parker Fisher
Sexual Assault Prevention Chairmen

Brotherhood Development

BDD this year has gone smoothly despite plenty of COVID restrictions from both the school and the city. I have been putting on two to three events per week with smaller groups to allow for protocol compliance while allowing for several opportunities for brothers to attend an event. Some of the events we have had include Top Golf, axe throwing, visiting the zoo and aquarium, and restaurants. I look forward to being creative during the winter quarter and continue to provide great experiences for my fellow brothers.

C, F & S,
Alex Murphy
Brotherhood Development Chairmen

Athletics

Hi, my name is Matthew Mooney and I'm from Redondo Beach, California. I'm the current athletics chair which means I set up in house tournaments, competitions, and contests. This quarter we have been able to organize small groups to go and play golf as well as play spike-ball and wiffle ball at Washington Park.

C, F & S,
Matthew Mooney
Athletic Chairmen

Provost

My name is Christian Dubray and I am a senior from St. Louis, Missouri. I am the provost chair and new brother education leader. Some of my duties include teaching our new brothers the history of ZBT, our credo, expectations and most importantly what it means to be brother at Zeta Beta Tau, IOTA Chapter at the University of Denver. Provost is a key role in the development of new brothers as they will soon be the next role models for our chapter.

As provost I am also responsible for continuing educational programming for all brothers. This quarter we had a few speakers at our Zoom chapter meetings including ZBT's International President Jon Frieden. We are planning to have more speakers winter quarter as well as all class programming and an alumni panel.
