IOTA ADVISORS' UPDATE

With Covid restrictions lessened at DU things have returned to a more normal routine. Brothers are still regularly tested and other health and safety precautions are adhered to. The students are asked to be smart about gatherings. This as you might imagine has been challenging.

The chapter had a solid recruitment effort adding 16 new brothers. We hope to add at least 15 more new brothers during winter and spring recruitment. Alex Murphy, our chapter president, along with his fellow officers, directors and chairmen have executed lots of diverse programming including community service events, a chapter retreat, exchanges with sororities, numerous speakers at chapter meetings, athletic events, the annual alumni v. undergraduate football game and many other gatherings.

We look forward to doing even more in the quarters to come including more community service and our annual effort to raise funds for the Children's Miracle Network. Certainly hoping that intramurals will return along with the chapter's ability to do other brotherhood events.

On the alumni front we are excited about the upcoming Alumni Hockey Night to be held Mar. 5th- more information to follow on this. We are also gearing up for our 102nd Chartering Celebration to be held Oct. 6-9th, 2022. Save those dates!

I want to thank my fellow advisors for their efforts during these interesting times. We are doing most advising from afar since we are limited in our ability to meet face to face with the undergraduates. We are looking for a few more alumni to help as advisors and house corporation directors. Please let me know if you are interested. We thank Kyle Leigh and Matt Meyer for stepping up.

Happy Holidays - looking forward to seeing many of you next year.

We look forward to '21-'22 being a tremendous year for IOTA and to our 102nd Chartering Anniversary Celebration in the fall of 2022, see pages 16-18. Stay well.

Biden Taps Marc Nathanson as Ambassador to Norway

By John Eggerton

President Joe Biden has signaled his intention to nominate veteran cable executive Marc Nathanson as the U.S. ambassador to Norway.

In signaling his plan to send the nomination to the Senate, the President praised Nathanson as “one of America’s leading communications entrepreneurs and a noted environmentalist.”

Nathanson, who is currently chairman of holding company Mapleton Investments, founded Falcon Cable and was later vice chairman of Charter Communications after Charter bought his company in 1999 for $3.6 billion (see web link).

Mapleton Investments has investments topping $1 billion dollars in various global ventures including private equity and direct investments (see web link below).

This won't be Nathanson's first government service. He served as chairman of the United States Agency for Global Media during the Clinton-Gore and Bush-Cheney administrations.

Nathanson is immediate past co-chairman of the Pacific Council on International Policy and vice chairman of the National Democratic Institute for International Affairs (NDI). He is also a trustee of the Aspen Institute and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

4 Noses Brewing Plans Denver Taproom and Production Brewery

A day after hitting Colorado with the news that it had purchased Odd13 Brewing, the parent company behind 4 Noses Brewing has revealed that it also plans to open a large production facility — and a new taproom — at the northwestern edge of Denver's Park Hill neighborhood.

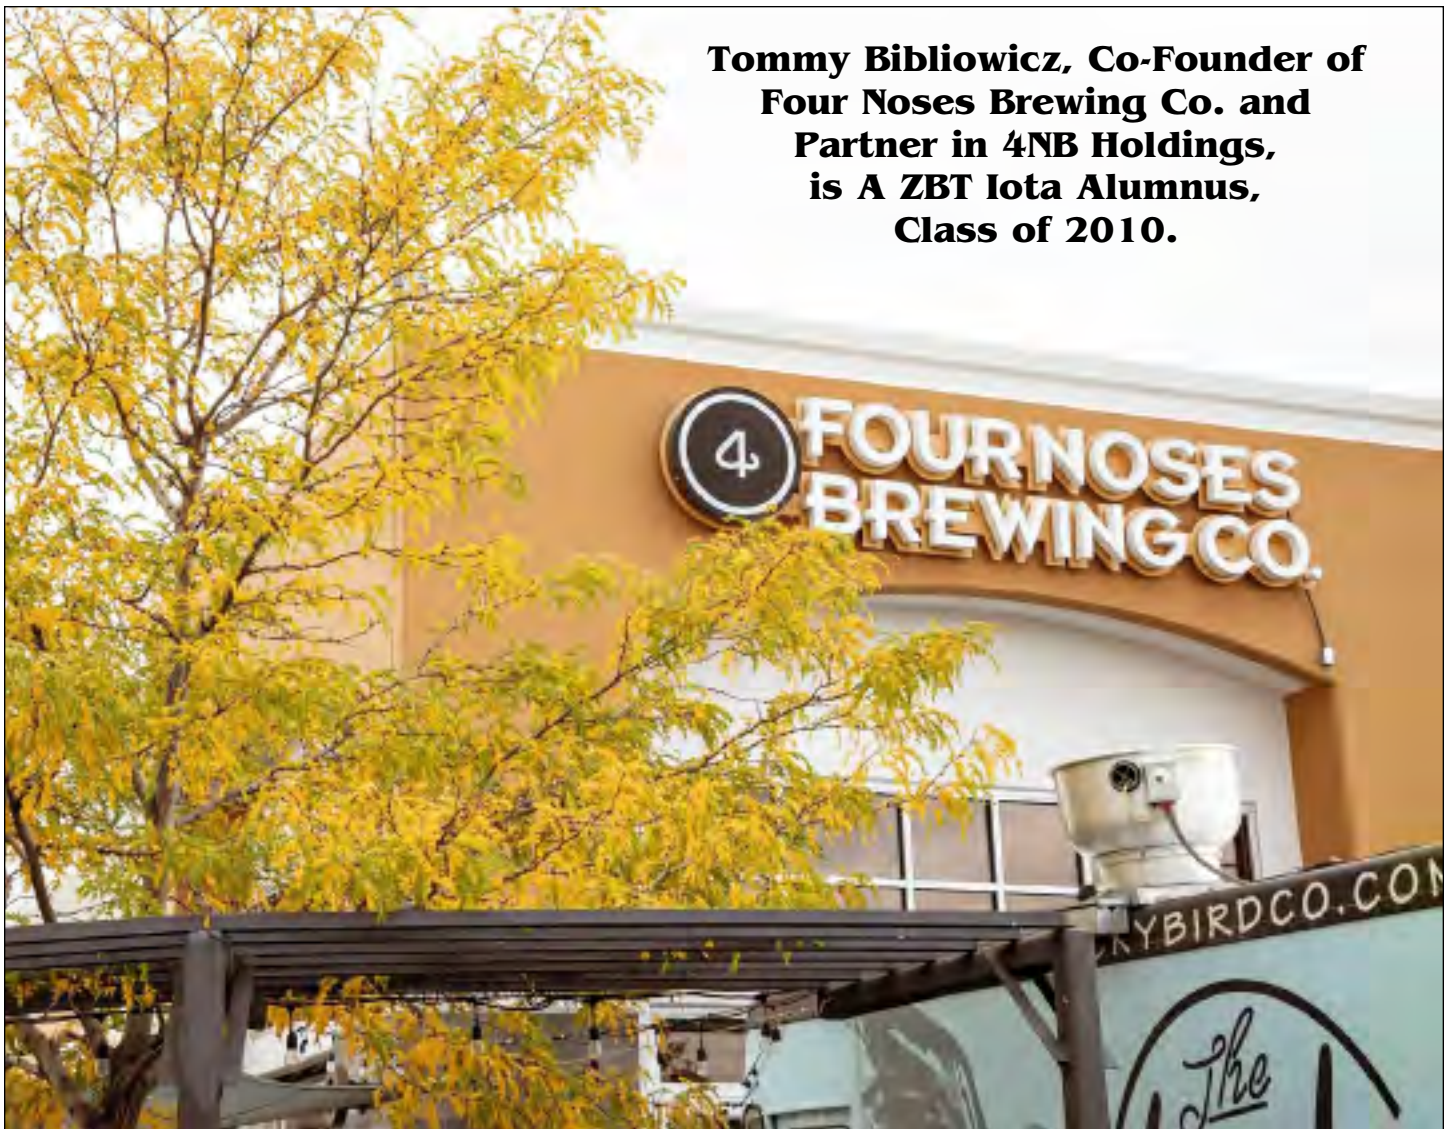

"We were fortunate through the pandemic to be able to continue to sell our beers across Colorado in liquor stores and supermarkets, and we fought pretty hard for that," says Tommy Bibliowicz, co-founder of 4 Noses and a partner in 4NB Holdings, which is the Bibliowicz family-owned parent company for 4 Noses, Odd13 and Wild Provisions Beer Project.

As a result, 4 Noses had been looking for a production facility long before the Odd13 deal was made. In fact, Bibliowicz says, he learned that Odd13 owners Ryan and Kristin Scott were trying to sell the brand and the Lafayette taproom after inquiring about Odd13's production space; the Scotts closed that space two months ago and sold the equipment to an out-of-state brewery.

Nonprofit experiences spike in new members seeking help for eating disorder.

DENVER — A nonprofit helping people struggling with eating disorders experienced a surge in new members during the pandemic. Written by: Adi Guajardo

Every day, people are bombarded with images of perfection and a sense of achievement and happiness that can feel far-fetched when they look in the mirror.

Emma Moody remembers struggling with her confidence and purpose in life when she was just 12 years old. At the time she didn't really understand what an eating disorder was, but it soon became clear she was suffering from anorexia.

"I felt very unsafe in my physical body, so I thought if I can stop eating, I can numb myself," Moody said. "I just wanted to hide. I wanted to be so small internally that nobody could see me, nobody could hurt me, nobody could touch me, nobody could love me because I didn't feel worthy of love."

For two years, Moody skipped meals and reduced her portions significantly. She said it initially started as a diet and it spiraled out of control.

Moody hid her disorder from her parents until she was 14 years

Emma Moody is the daughter of Hershel Shapiro (IOTA, 1979) who passed away on March 2, 2014.

Toni Saiber is the sister-in-law of Iota's Past President and Past Chapter Advisor, Bruce Saiber. Toni started The Eating Disorder Foundation.

old. When she reached her breaking point, she finally came forward and asked her mother for help. She was checked into Children's Hospital.

She recovered and relapsed seven years later when she lost her father to suicide. Moody said she began to binge eat to fill a void and numb the heartache.

"With eating disorders, there is a lot of shame, there is a lot of pain, there is a lot of guilt that people carry within themselves, and I absolutely felt that," Moody said.

Moody admits, she had suicidal thoughts cross her mind.

"There were times, particularly when I was struggling, and I didn't think I was going to make it. I didn't know if I was going to be alive," Moody said.

Each year, millions of Americans suffer from eating disorders. Experts say eating disorders often go undiagnosed.

According to Dr. Barbara Kessel, child and adolescent psychiatrist at Eating Recover Center, there is a fine line between dieting and an eating disorder, and, at times, the line can be blurred.

"A lot of eating disorder behaviors are really kind of culturally acceptable in our society, unfortunately," Kessel said.

She said the pandemic only fueled a rise in eating disorders as people dropped out of activities, felt a loss of control over their lives and spent hours on social media.

"Consuming massive amounts of these messages that you need to lose weight — here is an exercise routine, try this diet, it's going to change your life, maybe even this supplement that's going to cause you to lose weight — and those messages can be so toxic," Kessel said.

The most common eating disorders are anorexia nervosa, bulimia nervosa and binge eating.

"Prior to the opioid epidemic, they were the number one cause of mortality or death of any psychiatric condition," Kessel said.

She said the most common causes of death related to an eating disorder are suicide and medical complications.

Since the pandemic, The Eating Disorder Foundation, a nonprofit in Denver, has experienced 1030% increase in new support group members seeking help compared to 2019. A spokesperson with the organization highlighted that it impacts people of all ages.

Recently the nonprofit saw a spike in participants between 13 and 17 years old and launched a new support group for those 50 and older as the demand grew.

Red flags of an eating disorder include mood changes, which include anger and sadness around food and eating, and exercising habits that interfere with daily life.

"One thing to really look out for is that impairment in their life and in their functioning. In children, one thing that we look out for is not even necessarily weight loss; sometimes we will look at a child's growth and see that they have just stopped growing," Kessel said. "Sometimes for a patient who is in a larger body, it can go undetected by medical professionals for quite some time before it's recognized as a problem."

Moody relied heavily on The Eating Disorder Foundation for help and support. She said she had to dig deep inside of herself, find hope and purpose for life.

"I haven't had a binge or a period of restriction in three years," Moody said. "Colors are brighter, food tastes better and relationships and connections are so much more valuable for me. I have no desire to go back, and I think that that is such a gift."

She's now a mentor helping people with an illness she knows all too well.

Recovering from an eating disorder is possible, and there are several organizations, both locally and nationally, that can provide help, including the nonprofit The Eating Disorder Foundation, the Eating Recovery Center and the National Eating Disorder Association.

From AN IOTA'S WORTH | Spring 2014 Edition

A poem for Hershel Shapiro. May he rest in peace.

Our family trees are not the same; we both have a different mother
 And yet I'd proudly tell the world that this man is my brother.
 It's like we've lived our lives together, though we meet for the first time.
 As this powerful sense of brotherhood makes everything seem fine.
 Spectators stand and look with awe as we do our secret shake.
 Never realizing that this clasping of hands DOES NOT a brother make.
 We are brothers in a deeper sense than they can comprehend.
 For when our bond has just begun, theirs is about to end.
 When we were searching for the light, as all IOTA's must do.
 They stood aside and laughed out loud and said "I wouldn't do that, would you?"
 And yet when we had crossed those sands, and the light we could finally see.
 They stood aside and whispered softly Oh how I wish it were me!
 I know the decision I made was wise, of this I'm sure and have no doubt.
 Each day in my life will have blue skies for I'm a ZBT from here on out.
 And never again will I be lonely for I have brothers everywhere.
 In cities of population two, I even have a brother there.
 There is nothing in this whole wide world that we wouldn't do for one another.
 I'm sure I'd even give my life to save that of my brother.
 But there are still those in darkness who cannot understand why I share the burden which belongs to another man
 When asked "Why weigh yourself down with the load of another?"
 I simply smile at them and say, He ain't heavy, He's my Brother!

Message on the State of the Fraternity

from the ZBT Staff

While COVID-19 continues to be an issue globally, brothers and chapters are finding various degrees of normalcy in their lives. On campuses across the U.S., chapters are back to hosting in person events and philanthropies, returning to their houses and welcoming new brothers to our great Fraternity.

Growing our Brotherhood

With most institutions resuming on-campus classes and activities, Zeta Beta Tau brothers are bringing excited energy to recruitment, greeting many potential new brothers and growing the Brotherhood. So far in the fall term, some highlights from recruitment include 67 new brothers at the Lambda Chapter at the University of Texas, 49 new brothers at Beta Gamma Chapter at Indiana University and 45 brothers initiated at Alpha Omicron at the University of Arizona. Many chapters are excited to share why it's great to be a ZBT with new brothers.

Zeta Beta Tau is thrilled to be returning to three historic campuses with new prospective chapters this year. The prospective brothers at the University of Kentucky (Alpha Iota) and Michigan State University (Beta Epsilon) are nearing Initiation into ZBT. Join us in welcoming our new brothers!

Finally, the third expansion of the year already is on the receiving end of much energy from alumni, as we re-form the historic Alpha Omega Chapter at the University of Miami in January.

If you know any students who go to any of these universities or who will be matriculating in the next year or two, please provide their information at zbt.org/refer so we can reach out about ZBT. If you are interested in helping with the restart process or one of these chapters in the future, please email us. Alumni engagement is essential to a chapter's success. It's great to be a ZBT!

Today's Fraternity Experience

The Fraternity continues to expand initiatives and programming in hate prevention and antisemitism awareness. ZBT remains as strongly committed as ever to being a voice for the Jewish people, especially on college campuses. A new staff-led program is called Antisemitism: Past and Present, offering an overview of the history of Jewish persecution. This training has reached over 400 students in recent months. ZBT also continues to work with external partners like the Anti-Defamation League and Hillel International to educate ZBTs and their fellow students.

Chapters at the local level are engaging in a variety of activities and educational opportunities that might surprise you with their creativity. The framework provided by our brother enrichment program, THE JOURNEY, allows for personal and professional development for new initiates through upperclassmen nearing graduation. ZBT chapters are hosting virtual alumni panels, resume workshops, philanthropic contests with TikTok-style fun videos and socially distanced Shabbat dinners. Touch football games, hikes, retreat weekend bonfires and other fun among Zeebs will forever be great bonding opportunities for brothers. It's a great time to be a ZBT!

ZBT was thrilled to bring brothers together for 2021 International Convention last July. The return of this tradition was enjoyed by all brothers and guests. We are beginning to plan activities and for the 2022 Convention next summer and we know you won't want to miss out on this one – Las Vegas! Save the date July 14-16, 2022.

Chancellor Haefner Visits IOTA Chapter

It was a pleasure having DU's Chancellor Haefner at our house tonight for our final rush event! Our chapter is looking forward to the exciting changes that he brings to the DU campus.

ZBT continues to lead the Greek world with its JOURNEY PROGRAM, a non-pledging, non-hazing program for assimilation and education of all brothers.

In 1989 ZBT eliminated pledging as a tradition. While we have had our challenges gaining universal acceptance from all chapters, ZBT is clearly a safer and better brotherhood because of this courageous choice. Other fraternities have now followed our lead.

We are proud of our brothers at IOTA who have been properly implementing this program.

DU's Center for Judaic Studies Witness to History

With support from the Rose Community Foundation, the Center for Judaic Studies (CJS) will launch Witness to History—a new, online platform for learning a digitized curriculum offering free access to teachers in Colorado to aid in Holocaust education. This website supports a newly legislated statewide education mandate for Holocaust and Genocide Studies in Colorado Public Schools.

It will present narrative profiles of Holocaust survivors who made Colorado their home. Their stories will be integrated into an interactive chronological timeline of the Holocaust and interactive maps keyed to events in the survivors' narratives. Drawing on archival materials and first-hand testimony, content will be mapped to existing lesson plans and educational standards now in development under the mandate.

No other online Holocaust educational platform exists that is specifically tailored to the needs of Colorado public schools and connects the stories of survivors who came to Colorado with the history and memory of the Holocaust. As survivor's age, and in an era of increasing anti-Semitism, the preservation and dissemination of trusted educational content is even more crucial.

The initial funding for Witness to History has helped to launch the program, but there are additional goals that require continued funding.

- Professional translation to Spanish
- Continued digitization of archival assets and expansion of survivor profiles
- Annual Operating Costs

Broad support for this project is vital. For more information on how you can partner with the Center for Judaic Studies and the University of Denver on this important initiative, please contact Laura C. Mack, CAHSS Director of Development, Leadership Annual Giving, laura.mack@du.edu, or 303-871-6267.

UNIVERSITY of DENVER

EXCLUSIVE IOTA OCTOGENARIAN SOCIETY MEETS AGAIN

After saying yes to an email invite from Harvey Volin, '60, I told my wife that I am driving to Denver to meet up with my Phi Sig friends in September. "You're doing what? No, you're not driving to Denver alone, and that's final!" I mentioned my dilemma to a temple friend. Either I fly from Seattle or I drive to Denver with another person. Like me, he has family to visit in Denver and would love to go with me. So, on Sunday morning, September 20, 2021, Ronnie and I departed, stocked with masks, sandwiches, and maps. My major objective: to visit my son and meet up with my Iota chapter fraternity brothers of the 1950s-1960s.

We crossed Washington and Oregon into Idaho and through Utah into Colorado. Wide open spaces, majestic mountains, small towns, national parks and monuments. We saw Great Sand Dunes, Four-Corners, Arches, Pikes Peak, Continental Divide, Golden Spike and more. "This is America, and I love it!" as my grandfather used to say.

My friend and I overnighted at some grand places and a couple significantly less so. We traversed rural states along Interstates; we slowed down along lesser-traveled roads. We sighted deer, abandoned motels, and one-lane bridges. It was great to visit with my son at his recently acquired Denver home. But the highlight was meeting on Thursday, September 23, 2021 at 6:00PM for dinner with the Iota boys. Sad to say our numbers are yearly dwindling. We came from Montana, Florida, Seattle, and Denver. It was fun to reminisce. We had an impromptu quiz asking who remembered the housemother's name (Jane Schriever); what was the pay-phone number near the front door (Pearl 3-9842) etc.

Nearing 9:00PM it was time for we Octogenarians to leave. Hugs, handshakes, promises to meet soon again and applause to Harvey Volin. Until we meet again, adios, zey gezunt, and be healthy. Edward Ned Porges, Iota '62

The ZBT IOTA website is the product of a lot of hard work from very dedicated individuals. Through the help of a website developer, we were able to create something that we truly felt captured our chapter and who we are. Our new website features a variety of comprehensive tabs, each revealing something different regarding our brotherhood, along with a blog to keep followers in the loop with all things Iota. I encourage you to check it out for updates, current news and photos.

President

Hello brothers, my name is Alex Murphy and I am a junior from Plano, Texas. It has been an honor to serve as Iota's President as we continue to move toward a more robust college experience. Fall quarter has been a great success in terms of programming and recruitment. The highlight of this quarter was our brotherhood retreat outside of the Springs in mid-October.

The Executive Board has been hard at work to provide programming for the chapter every day of the week. Although there have been some external challenges in the past few weeks, our brotherhood is as strong as ever and we are all looking forward to the rest of a great year. As always, it's great to be a ZBT at DU! Stay well.

C, F & S,

Alex Murphy, Iota Chapter President
University of Denver '22

Operations Director

Hey, my name is Henry Davis. I am a junior from Austin Texas and I have been serving as the Operations Director as well as a Co-Social Chair this fall. As Operations Director I've been able to work with different brothers to coordinate events such as brotherhood development, athletic events, study groups, and tailgates to support our brothers playing sports here at DU. As Social Chair I have been able to organize exchanges with sororities. We had a disco themed exchange at a roller rink with Delta Gamma and a pizza and yard game party at Observatory Park with Chi Omega. So far this year has been a blast and I'm so glad that I've taken on several chair positions to help out my brotherhood!.

C, F & S,

Henry Davis
Operations Director

Faculty Advisor

I am Greg Grauberger, the faculty advisor for ZBT, I work as an advisor at the Daniels College of Business and work closely with Daniels students and their families. My opportunity to serve for ZBT gives me the chance to branch out and enjoy the privilege of working with a group of brothers who are very visible and distinguished on campus. In the time I have been associated with ZBT, I have witnessed the energy and effort that the house places against all campus activities, creating well-rounded brothers who are creating meaningful, lifelong networks. As a priority, I want the current brothers to think back to the time that they joined ZBT, the commitment to stand shoulder to shoulder with their brothers, to respect and be there for them. Now, step back to re-examine that original commitment they made to themselves and to the others who are their ZBT family. Given that perspective, how can they personally extend and increase that commitment inside, and outside the ZBT community? What are some strategies and tactics to accomplish this academically, culturally, and socially? These will be some areas we explore in the future, and as parents and alums, your feedback is welcome.

I am very honored and flattered by the recognition, and to have been able to receive the Excellence, Chapter Faculty Adviser award in person. In my position in Daniels, I work with a lot of students, and a lot of Greek students, and each day I feel most fortunate to be connected specifically as a ZBT Brother with everyone individually, and as a group. It's a tremendous house, but one that has not even reached its potential academically, which is both a challenging and exciting proposition. While last night provides a snapshot for earned celebration, it also gives us the impetus to direct our momentum to the future and to visualize the accomplishments ahead of us.

Thanks again, and please give all the Brothers my sincere thanks at the upcoming chapter meeting.

Programming Director

My name is Maxwell Matza. I am currently a Senior from Westchester, New York. My main responsibility includes overseeing chairs and committees of our chapter. As the Programming Director, I facilitate events and activities to ensure we instill the teachings of Zeta Beta Tau to our chapter. Throughout the past two year we have endured something no one could ever see coming, COVID 19. It is my goal to make sure our chapter experiences ZBT as I have my Freshman, Sophomore and Junior Year. As for the next few weeks and months, we are planning our Winter Retreat, as well as a plethora of weekly events for our chapter. I am extremely excited for this Winter quarter.

C, F & S,
Max Matza
Programming Director

Communications Director

Hi there, I am Liam Fitzgerald. I am a sophomore from Clarendon Hills, IL and am the current Iota recruitment chair. After a tough year globally, we are looking to return our chapter to its previous size through our programming and other features. We look forward to welcoming all new brothers, and please make sure to send all recruitment recommendations to me at (630) 853-1731, or LMPFitz501@live.com.

C, F & S,
Liam Fitzgerald
Communications Chairmen

Finance Director

My name is Jake Kalina. I am a junior from Rochester, Minnesota and the current financial director for our chapter. I am responsible for maintaining a chapter wide budget that allocates funds to our extensive programming. This quarter, dues returned to the original pre-COVID rate to allow us enough funds for all fall quarter events. We were able to have our quarterly out of town retreat, sorority exchanges, multiple brotherhood development events, and so much more. I look forward to another eventful and safe winter quarter.

C, F & S,
Jake Kalina
Finance Director

Brotherhood Development

Hi, I am Josh Mittman, a junior at the University of Denver from Westchester, New York. I am currently Iota Chapters Brotherhood Development Director. I am tasked with the oversight of all education and development of the brothers through in-person and on-line education that will help develop the brotherhood and guide our brothers along THE JOURNEY. Being part of the ZBT community and the greater DU community has been enjoyable and rewarding. Being able to learn and grow together makes such a difference. I look forward to what lies ahead for the Iota Chapter. Our continued growth and development as young men and contributors to our Chapter and the greater community is only the beginning to the success that each of us will achieve.

C, F & S,
Josh Mittman
Brotherhood Development Chairmen

Provost

Hi, we are the current provosts for the Iota chapter. We are both seniors graduating in the spring. Ethan is from Chicago and Larry is from New York. Our duties include teaching our new brothers the history of ZBT, our credo, expectations and most importantly what it means to be a member of ZBT. Provost is a key role in the development of new brothers as they will soon be the next role models for our chapter.

C, F & S,
Ethan Woodley and Larry Waterhouse
Provost Chairmen

Social

We are more than excited to resume our social programming whether it be mixers with the sororities, off-campus events, or formals — it has been long overdue and well earned. We have been working closely with the executive board to provide weekly programming for the brothers to look forward to. So far, this past quarter has been filled with fun and we are looking forward to the next two.

C, F & S,
Aidan Vaughey
Social Programming Director

Academics

This fall reintroduced in-person classes to the masses for the first time since winter quarter of 2020. Flip flopping from the standard school schedule to going entirely online, then back to in person again has proved challenging for more than just a few. That being said, grades thus far have been great around the board. Covid restrictions interrupted scheduled study groups, but moving into the coming quarter we expect that to change. Study groups organized by major/minor that were previously in the works will be introduced this coming winter, assuming permission from the school.

Athletics

Hello my name is Alex Daves. I am a sophomore from Sun Valley, Idaho. I am very excited to me the athletic chiar again this year. We started off the year with a couple great events like football on the strum green and also a huge turnout for kick ball at Observatory park. I am still working on trying to get a touch football game with bold-er going. We also had a good turnout to the alumni football game, even though our team wasn't the most structured. Hockey is a big part of DU and I was excited by both how many kids went a to the tailgate and division 1 game, and also all the various different club hockey games. There are three ZBT members on the team. Overall I am excited for the opportunities after winter break.

C, F & S,
 Alex Daves
 Athletic Chairmen

Community Service

This fall, we dealt with unprecedented circumstances as we looked to assist a community ravaged by the Covid-19 pandemic, while maintaining the health and safety of ourselves, the faculty, and students of the University of Denver as a whole. Because of this, we were allowed very minimal in person events, and promoted virtual volunteering opportunities for all our brothers, as we looked at a community that needed our brotherly assistance more than ever. Our only in-person event this quarter consisted of a Card Drive, in which we made and collected cards for the Food Bank of the Rockies to be delivered in packages sent to those that are immunocompromised or handicapped to the point where grocery shopping is impossible—sending out a wide variety of positive messages and words of hope during these incredibly pressing times. Moving forward into the Winter Quarter, we will continue to look for opportunities to contribute to the public good, while maintaining the safety of our brothers, and those around us, while hopefully finding more in-person opportunities that allow us to still be safe.

C, F & S,
 Beck Duncan
 Community Service Chairmen

Risk Prevention & Wellness

Risk prevention and wellness has been extremely important throughout the pandemic. This year our risk management program has been centered around the mental health of our brothers. These unprecedented times have had adverse impacts on the mental health of many and we are making a conscious effort to mitigate that. Even with the lack of regular programming, we have maintained normal procedures assigning sober monitors to make sure that brothers can have as much fun as possible while staying as safe as possible in COVID friendly environments.

C, F & S,
Alex Goodman
Risk Management Co-Chairmen

Alumni/Parental Relations

Hi, my name is Braden Krumholz and I am the Parent/Alumni chair for Iota. I am a Junior and from Dallas, Texas. This has been a great quarter with getting events running again since last quarter was plagued by COVID. This quarter we were able to have a very successful parents weekend and a fun alumni football game. We are looking forward to having more events for the next quarter. Thank you all for participating in our events and see you all soon.

C, F & S,
Branden Krumhotz
Alumni/Parental Relations Chairmen

Inter Fraternity Council

My name is Arthur Ashworth and during this past year I have been representing the ZBT IOTA chapter on the IFC executive board as the Operations Director. During this time, we at IFC have been in charge of creating the framework and events of IFC fall rush period with over 400 new freshman signing up to become apart of the Greek life community. We have been looking to bring in speakers to speak with the Greek life members about difficult topics going on in our community. It has been an honor serving in this position to represent the ZBT IOTA chapter.

C, F & S,
Arthur Ashworth
IFC Chairmen

Risk & Harm Reduction

As we get back to our regular yearly programming, it is important to keep up with our risk and harm reduction procedures to avoid any crises in the future. We are committed to educating new members on what it means to be your brother's keeper and facilitate a safe, worry-free environment for our brothers.

C, F & S,
Aidan Vaughey
Risk and Harm Reduction Manager

Health

This year has been busy for the health and wellness of the chapter house. COVID has been a challenge to manage within the house, but we have combated that with daily temperature checks and frequent testing. We're requiring live-in brothers to wear masks and disinfect high touch areas. Though we have had brothers in the fraternity test positive, we are staying happy and healthy.

C, F & S,
Austin Danelski
Health Chairmen

Public Relations

My name is Dylan and I am the social media chair. I am a sophomore from Connecticut. I played a big part in spreading word about recruitment over instagram as well as showing events that brothers participated in throughout the semester.
